On choosing a story

I always find Easter difficult to write about, which seems absurd because it is the most important and exciting time of the Christian year. The problem is that Easter- the Resurrection of Jesus- is massive and world-changing, but only if it is seen in the light of the human condition, life, suffering, and death. Without the context, it looks like a weird story of a dead god bounding back to life and scaring the big bad Romans and wicked religious people- Boo! It's like something you might read in a book of myths and legends. And then there is the tricky business of the Christian claim that it is neither the stuff of myth nor legend because Jesus is still alive and active in billions of lives today. If you were creating a global religion from scratch you wouldn't start with all this. It's far too complicated.

But every day, I and countless others stake all that we are and will be on Easter and the person at its heart. We may be fools or we may be right. No priest or scientist, no philosopher or politician can prove it one way or another this side of the grave. And so we just have to choose which story we prefer to live by. Cue considerable decanal pinching from Bob Hartman, but it boils down to this:

The first story says: A very long time ago, there was a series of accidents. Energy and matter and molecules collided and somehow, you are here today. By accident. Your fate is random and only fleetingly important to you and a few loved ones

The second story says: In the beginning, God created the heavens and the earth. And you are here, not by accident, but because he designed you and loves you and wants to be in a relationship with you.

The first story goes on: The fit live, the weak die, the vocal and the strong dominate. Survival is the game. Look out for number one.

The second story goes: Blessed are the meek, the poor and the peacemakers. Greater love has no one than this that he lay down his life for his friends.

The first story concludes: You die. You decay. The end.

But the second story doesn't have an end. For Jesus said, "I am the resurrection and the life. He who believes in me will live, even though he dies, and whoever lives and believes in me will never die"

In church, we celebrate that second story daily, especially over Holy Week and Easter. It is your story and mine. Come and see...

OLDBURY NEWS

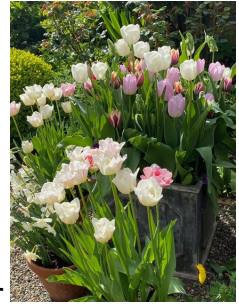

A note in my diary says "April/Spring edition of CrossLink". When I look outside the window, Oldbury has turned white and the lambs in our field are looking very confused. These are indeed confusing times for us all, the war in Ukraine is again headline news, politicians continue to dominate the papers for all the wrong reasons, and here in Bridgnorth we seem no closer to appointing a new Team Rector and moving forward. The Oldbury PCC met recently to approve the Annual Report for St Nicholas. Much time was also given to discussing the vacancy, and the delay we find ourselves in due to the Rectory being considered no longer suitable accommodation. We in Oldbury are so fortunate to have the services of the Revd. Marjorie Brooks, but we are very aware that this is not the case for other parishes and are frustrated that the whole process is proving so protracted and complicated, and putting unnecessary strain on those who are trying to bridge the gap.

Services at Oldbury are held on the 1st and 3rd Sunday of the month, alternating with Quatford who have the 2nd and 4th Sundays. This year Easter is on Sunday 9th April, the 2nd Sunday in the month, so Marjorie will be leading the Easter Celebration at Quatford.

The Oldbury APCM (Annual Parochial Church Meeting) will be held the following week after the morning service on Sunday 16th April. All church members are invited to attend, to appoint members to the PCC (Parochial Church Council), to receive the Annual Report and Annual Accounts and to contribute ideas for the future. If you would like to be more involved in the running of St Nicholas Church by joining the PCC have a chat with Dorothy or Liz to find out more.

Despite the snow we all know that Spring will be with us soon and there is nothing better than seeing the first blossom appearing as you drive through the village.

This is tulip time too, and the gardens at Westwood House will be open on Sunday 23rd April from 2-5pm in aid of the NGS (National Garden Scheme). Admission is £5 for adults with children under 16 FOC. The ground is reasonably level and dogs on leads are very welcome. The Oldbury team will be providing their wonderful teas and all the proceeds from the refreshments will be in aid of our church. There will be plenty of plants on sale as well, so please put the date in your diary.

ST MARY'S CONNECT LUNCHES

To the Tune: Lili Marleen

There's a pub in High Town
It's called the Shakespeare Inn;
Ev'ry month we meet there
And get the lunches in.
There's great conversation -
Makes you think;
The grub's superb,
And so's the drink;
The atmosphere's electric,
We've built up quite a link.

We're all from diff'rent churches,
We just don't care a bit;
We sit around and natter
(Though some of us just sit).
Though churches are different
We don't fight,
'Cos we all know
Our church is right.
It's neutral ground, the Shakespeare,
– So none of us will bite!

Clergy Thoughts from Marjorie

But now in Christ Jesus you who once were far off have been brought near by the blood of Christ. (Ephesians 2:13)

March was an unquiet month as far as the weather was concerned; the usual expected March high winds were supplemented by heavy snowfalls. But as I write, the sun is out and it finally seems as if winter is over and spring is imminent. And as winter ends, so too does that sombre period that the Church calls Lent, with its penance, abstinence and self-denial. Of course, the angst of Maundy Thursday and the trauma of Good Friday still lie ahead, but then we come to that greatest of all celebrations - Easter.

All these events are so familiar it is easy to slide over them unquestioningly and take them for granted. But let's just remind ourselves of what Jesus went through - for us - before we get to Easter. I am not going to dwell on the details of crucifixion; suffice to say that it was one of the most - if not the most - barbaric forms of execution ever devised, the very epitome of Man's inhumanity to Man. And we must never minimise the agony Jesus went through in our place; agony to which he submitted himself willingly because it was the only way to accomplish, what he had set out to do - the salvation of the World - and all because he loved us.

His sacrifice did indeed save us - but it was like an act which has been promulgated but not ratified. That came with the validation of the resurrection. And that is why Easter is so important - because the resurrection is the final evidence that God has accepted the sacrifice made on our behalf and has forgiven us our sin. The sinless Jesus had done for us what we could not do for our sinful selves and so given us the supreme joy of resurrection eternal life.

So, naturally, this is cause for celebration. We who were outcasts are now welcomed by God as his sons and daughters and we know that we will spend eternity with this loving Father. Once we had no future - now we have the most glorious future - and one that no one can take from us, for the cross and resurrection robbed the devil of his power over us. "Though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool." (Isaiah 1:18) We have been allowed to take on the innocence of Jesus and can now claim it for ourselves before the throne of grace.

So all that we celebrate. But let us also use this time to show our thankfulness and gratitude. We thank God for making this plan for our salvation; we thank Jesus for putting that plan into operation; and we thank the Spirit for providing the proof of its accomplishment by bringing Jesus from the dead. Alleluia, Christ is risen! He is risen indeed, Alleluia!

LITTLE STARS

TODDLE WADDLE

Little Stars is our playgroup that runs at St. Mary's Church every week. It is organised by a small group of volunteers and we aim to provide a friendly, supportive and fun environment for the little ones and their responsible adult. Each week we do crafts, stories and songs that are based on the church calendar. As we are in Lent we decided to try to encourage the children to help others and came up with the idea of a Toddle Waddle! We chose Unicef Ukraine for our charity as they directly support children affected by the war - being for other children it seemed perfect. The children walked around and around St. Mary's all together with their adults. They then came in a stuck little feet with their name on onto a poster that we have put up for everyone to see. Afterwards we sung a song about helping the children of Ukraine and all of them received a certificate. So far we have raised a fabulous £87.70 which has gone straight to Unicef Ukraine. We are so proud of all our Little Stars who have proved that the smallest of us can make a big difference. Thank you to everyone who supported us.

MEDITATION ON CHRIST ON THE CROSS BY DELACROIX

I prayed and asked You to reveal
To me, who can but faintly feel
As one whose sense and visions are
Not like those of Delacroix.

Amongst those faces, flushed or ashen
That at first-hand watch Your Passion,
And from faces darkened out
Of Roman soldiers, comes the shout
“Thurst your spear into His side!”
And one obeys him who thus cried.
A woman with her upturned eyes
Sees Your wan face against wild skies.

The one face which I cannot see
Is mine own held in mystery,
At my great gain and His great loss
On the unfathomable cross.
Lord, my imagination faint,
Surrenders to the painters paint.

Submitted by Roger Taylor

LECTIO DIVINA

Some years ago on a church retreat, we were asked to select a religious object - icon, stained glass or picture on which to meditate for half-hour and speak or write something in appreciation of it: It fell to my lot to peruse the painting here reproduced: Christ on the Cross, by the famous artist Delacroix. (see below)

During my meditation I had a strange experience, so deep that I seemed to hear the voices around the Cross, and even sensed movement. I admit that it seemed sufficiently “weird” That I forcibly removed myself from the experience and then wrote the accompanying poem. Such is the power of the painter— such is the power of meditation—such is the power of The Cross!

Happy Easter!

TASLEY NEWS

On the 5th March we were pleased to welcome the Rural Dean Mark Daborn who officiated at our Communion service.

On Mothering Sunday the congregation of Astley Abbotts joined us for the service which was led by Bishop Richard. We were pleased to welcome him and his Wife to Tasley. The joint Choir sang the Anthem Ave Maria, a most appropriate piece of music for Mothering Sunday. Following the Service it was good to have time for a chat over refreshments. It was lovely to see Mary and Roger in Church and we wish them well.

Our thanks to Mal for once again providing the lovely viola plants which she gave to the ladies of the congregation.

We were sorry to hear that Thelma is unwell. We send her our love and we will keep her in our thoughts and prayers.

We look forward to seeing you at the next Coffee Morning on Monday 3rd April.

Forthcoming events—Sat 1st April – “Flicks in the Sticks” with Fish & Chips. The film is Blind Ambition at 7pm in the village hall. £10. Wishing you all a Happy Easter. Margaret

FROM SMALL BEGINNINGS

A tiny acorn hugs it's secret close
That safe and warm inside its hardened shell
The great and mighty oak tree latent lies,
Until such time, in forest, wood and dell,
The secret's out as God sees fit to show
The sturdy tree, with leafy branches green
Held high to heaven—majestic now 'tis true,
But once a lowly acorn small and mean.

A pebble thrown into the cool, still lake
Sank straight to the depths of the water blue,
Sending out ripples, circling far and wide
Across the surface with energy new;
Thus disturbed from its calm, the once still pool
Flowed fast and pulsate in lively dance,
Activated by just one tiny stone
So casually thrown with scarcely a glance.

One kindly deed may ease another's woe,
A friendly smile and gentle touch of hand,
May smooth the pain and show them that we care;
The listening ear that hears and understands
The faltering words of hurt and deep despair!
Just actions small—what may their influence be?
We know not now, but in God's time we pray
These seeds of love may grow just like the tree.

An Easter Meditation

Good Friday

Naked body, hangs upon the tree
Naked body, died for you and me.

Blood flows freely, read as ruby wine.
Blood flows freely, yours or maybe mine.

Sweat and anguish. Storm clouds above.
Sweat and anguish. But he came in love.

Mother weeping, couldn't bear the sight
Mother weeping, couldn't bear the sight

Death is lonely. Forsaken and denied.
Death is lonely. To God above He cried.

Saturday

Death entombed. The hours pass away
Death entombed. A price we all must pay.

Sunday

Glorious body, resplendent and divine.
Glorious body, Resurrection thine.

We must learn. The truth is dear to see
We must learn. A death to set us free.

We must follow where our saviour leads
We must follow. Forget our human needs.

Love and worship. He will show us how.
Love and worship. Christ and God live in us now.
