From Ven. Derek Chedzey, Archdeacon of Hereford

Harvest - as I drove out of Hereford, I was struck by the hard work that is going on in the countryside around the city. Straw is being collected from the fields, in some places silage is being cut and in others harvesting continues. When we were in Devon the celebration of Harvest took place across our villages from the end of August through to early October. Here in Hereford the pattern is similar, and our rural multi parish benefices are now beginning to celebrate Harvest.

The modern harvest festival celebrations that we know today was introduced in the Cornish parish of Morwenstow in 1843 by Rev Robert Hawker. Hawker was quite the eccentric and also on occasions was reputed to have dressed up as a mermaid! He invited his parishioners to a Harvest service as he wanted to give thanks to God for providing such plenty. However, this was to counter the festivities and merriment of much more ancient pagan celebrations, and he was keen to turn his parishioners towards a Christian celebration of harvest. The Christian Harvest celebrations that Hawker wanted to connect with were based on what he saw in the Old Testament, and he drew on the Jewish festival of Sukkot or feast of Tabernacles.

"You shall keep the Feast of Harvest, of the first fruits of your labour, of what you sow in the field. You shall keep the Feast of Ingathering at the end of the year, when you gather in from the field the fruit of your labour." Exodus 23:16

Even today with modern farming methods It is still an opportunity to give thanks to God for his provision for us and an opportunity to share with generosity the riches we have received. Paul was very clear in his teaching that generosity begins in our hearts and is a reflection of the gratitude we have towards God for what he has done for us. Generosity is not something we have to be coerced into but instead it is something freely given. We perhaps need this reminder because our wealth and belongings ultimately belong to God, and we are simply stewards of what we have.

"So, I thought it necessary to urge the brothers to go on ahead to you and arrange in advance for the gift you have promised, so that it may be ready as a willing gift, not as an exaction. The point is this: whoever sows sparingly will also reap sparingly, and whoever sows bountifully will also reap bountifully. Each one must give as he has decided in his heart, not reluctantly or under compulsion, for God loves a cheerful giver."

2 Corinthians 9:5-7

From Ven. Derek Chedzey, Archdeacon of Hereford

Our harvest services should reflect this attitude of generosity because it points to what is at the heart of our faith that God has given us new life in Jesus freely and without condition. This is the grace of God at work in our lives. However, as Christians we are also called to work in God's harvest field. Jesus in his teaching told the disciples that they were called to be labourers in the Kingdom.

"When he saw the crowds, he had compassion for them, because they were harassed and helpless, like sheep without a shepherd. Then he said to his disciples, "The harvest is plentiful, but the labourers are few; therefore, pray earnestly to the Lord of the harvest to send out labourers into his harvest."

Matthew 9:36-38

As disciples we are called to share the good news of the Kingdom and to help bring in God's harvest of new followers of Jesus. These are the disciples that Jesus calls us to make in the Great Commission, and it is part of our role not simply to make converts but to mentor and coach the next generation. We need to see the harvest not just in terms of crops, fruit and vegetables but as a spiritual reality that sees us offer the story of Jesus to a world in need

Reader Ramblings

I find the challenge of solving puzzles really satisfying, be it cryptic crosswords or number puzzles I love making sense out of what seems to be nonsense. If you know me you'll also know that I like order, it must be the librarian gene, if it comes my way I'll classify, catalogue and shelve it. And I'm sure I'm not alone when I say, that I like to feel I have at least some measure of control over the events in my life.

At the end of the year on my birthday I have to give up my Reader's licence and take a sabbatical. In readiness for that day I've had lots to do and think about as well as plans to make, not only for the time leading up to it, but for the three months of the sabbatical and beyond.

It has been quite challenging because there were and still are many what ifs, so many variables that are not in my control and when life is out of control my instinct is to try to fix it, and that can cause stress. As you would expect I prayed and meditated asking God for His peace. I came to realise that I was so focused on the challenge to solve the puzzles and answer all of the questions that I was leaving God out of the process. Then I read something that had a profound effect on me, I could almost hear God saying it to me, and I share it with you now.

"I've not asked you to feed the five thousand Jane, I've only asked you to bring the bread and the fish".

Light bulb moment! I wasn't meant to figure it all out on my own, to have all the answers. Jesus was asking me to trust him, because I'm not the miracle worker, he is. As Proverbs 3:5-6 says: "Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; in all your ways submit to him and he will make your paths straight."

Clergy Thoughts

I believe God is not looking for our strategies, God is looking for our surrender. We don't need to know all the answers when we know and trust the one who does. When we move our focus from what we don't have, in my case – all the answers, to what we do have – a loving Heavenly Father who we can trust; then as it says in Philippians 4:6-7 and I paraphrase, we will not be anxious about anything but in every situation by prayer and petition, with thanksgiving, we will present our requests to God, and the peace of God which transcends all understanding will guard our hearts and minds in Christ Jesus. Peace is often not the absence of a storm but the presence of Jesus in the midst of the storm

I end these thoughts with words that I wrote on a piece of paper, I've no idea when I wrote them, the paper fell out of a book I took down from a shelf to give away a few weeks ago. I still gave away the book but I kept the scrap of paper, it now lives on my fridge.

"Don't let the clutter of life distract you from what you need to do and what God requires of you.

Surrender yourself. Surrender it all."

Love and blessings

Jane

St. Mary's News

September has been a very busy and enjoyable month at St. Mary's. The month saw what I think must be a first for St. Mary's, which was an evening with a comedian. The comedian concerned was the Christian comedian Andy Kind . It was well supported and enjoyed by all.

September is the month of Ride and Stride. Members of our congregation were sponsored to cycle, walk and drive around churches in our area. Whilst members rom other churches cycled ,walked and drove to our church. We are grateful to everyone who took part to raise money for our churches.

The Ride and Stride concluded with a short concert from a classical guitarist.

At the time of writing this we are at St. Mary's hosting an exhibition of bible stories portrayed in knitting. The exhibition has so far been very well received.

We recently hosted an afternoon tea at St. James church hall. The whole event was very enjoyable and the cakes and scones were delicious.

St Mary's chamber choir have started rehearsals again on a Saturday morning in readiness for their Christmas concert. It is lovely to have a cup of tea or coffee and listen to the Christmas music so if you are around on a Saturday morning I would urge you to pop in and have a listen

Quatford News

If Rachel, our dutiful and highly valued Church Warden, was hoping for a few relatively quiet days over the summer months she was much mistaken

June, as Anne previously reported, was a busy month so too was July with the arrival on the 17th of Annabelle and then Trevor. Annabelle, as an accredited member of the Institute of Conservation is a conservator and restorer of painting. Her task that day was to examine our George I Royal Coat of Arms and the Triptych Founding of the Church by local artist Frank Nowill (1874-1906), who resided at Quatford. Perched on a step ladder (Health & Safety Officers please turn away), Annabelle took out her uv light torch to examine the armorial which created some amusement as it reminded me of Philip Mould, he of Fake or Fortune? the BBC1 art programme who, like Annabelle, has a uv light torch immediately to hand. Fortunately, and much to Rache's relief, Annabelle's Condition Report on both the armorial and the triptych was positive as the works are said to be structurally sound. As a consequence their respective renovations will not prove to be exorbitantly expensive.

Shortly after Annabelle's arrival Trevor arrived with his wife to inspect and re-calibrate the sound system which can now be used with ease both in the nave and the pulpit. Gone are the irritating crackles and sound distortions that in the past have been an irritant to many.

Yes. it's Trevor at work.

August saw the arrival of two researchers. Caroline an archaeologist and Victoria from the School of History at Leeds Doctoral College where her research is concerned with Anchorite Cells and Squints with a particular reference to churches in Shropshire. They had visited Quatford on a previous occasion but on this occasion, they were reassessing measurements of the unusual infill on the chance's interior south wall that, mysteriously, did not coincide with structures on the exterior wall. As Caroline and Victoria agreed, more research is need --- with a promise to return.

September saw Ride & Stride on 13th. We had six visitors including David Hardham, the County Organiser and Rachel, true to form, baked a cake half of which had been eaten by the time I arrived to keep her company! The next day was Harvest Festival, preceded by lunch which was provided by Rachel and Anne. Thank you both for all your hard work as not only was the food delicious but tables were also dressed with flowers and tablecloths: how posh! Thank you too to those of you who washed, dried and put away which enabled Marjorie to commence the service which was delayed but not unduly, so many thanks to you too Marjorie for a service that offered a time of reflection.

Enjoying Harvest lunch

Finally, to November and the Service of Remembrance that will take place on Sunday, 9th November at 10.30am. Do join us.

Oldbury News

How quickly time goes! I usually write at this time of year, which is a favourite of mine, with beautiful colours of foliage emerging and a total glut of fruit in our gardens (more than I can remember in the 38 years we have lived here). Please get in touch of you are short of apples. Some say that this amount of produce means a cold Winter, I hope not.

At the end of August we celebrated the wedding of Amber and Tom, with a perfectly behaved ring bearer dog Nellie, who earned her mention in the service register. We all became very fond of the three of them and wish them many happy years together.

At St Nicholas we will celebrate Harvest on Sunday 5th October at 10.30 and as usual, produce and donations will go to Bridgnorth Food Bank. I still help there on Monday mornings and know how valuable contributions are at this time of year.

This year we are reinstating a Harvest Supper evening in the village hall on Saturday October 11th at 5pm. This will be a community venture, so if you fancy joining us you will be very welcome. It will be a bring and share supper (food heating facilities in the kitchen), so bring a dish of your choice and something to drink. We are also having a raffle of oddities, all donations welcome, the proceeds being split between the hall and Blossom Barns in Chelmarsh, which is a working farm with day opportunities for adults with learning disabilities. Please join us if you can.

On our 5th Sunday on 30th November we will provide our usual coffee and cake in church with proceeds going to Christian Aid.

We also met our new curate Vickie and enjoyed her company and her lovely children at our last coffee and cake Sunday and also her prayer service with us.

At our recent PCC meeting we discussed the immediate need to upgrade our very old heating system, which can be done a bit at a time, starting with new trench tubes. Many thanks to Liz Fisher for her investigating and to all for their input. Hopefully we will keep a warm church this winter.
